

2022

Sustainability Research and Innovation Congress

The Sustainability Research & Innovation Congress (SRI Congress) is an annual transdisciplinary event that brings together research leaders, professionals, and innovators from all over the world to inspire action and support transition to sustainability. Convened by Future Earth and the Belmont Forum, the SRI Congress offers the world's foremost platform for enacting meaningful solutions to society, transformations at the intersection of research and innovation, and collaborations for change on the ground.

The second edition of the SRI Congress will take place at Future Africa Institute at the University of Pretoria in Pretoria, South Africa, and online, June 20-24, 2022.
